Correspondents are requested to address
us to P.O. Box 2095, Calgary.

What do Samson! The elections are upon us. *

O participation, how much honour
is demanded of us? *

The honour to feather his own nest this winter must be a bird. *

Christmas is a holiday, but Saturday is right here today, when the bars close at seven. The shopping starts. *

Sir Sam Hughes and the Miners are the only ones who seem to care about themselves at what is probably known as the "big election." *

What was that? Samson! Only when reputation suffered when old Hughie assumed he had a man in her apartment, did he realize that the story started by some enterprising miners in their room. On well! *

The few odd fellows who were inclined to go off on an occasional but will probably be more inclined to go off on long halting journeys this winter. *

St. Andrew's Day is the Calgary season to have fallen since despite one that the weather is still cold. It's Harry's Birthday just so good a day to get drunk on. By the way, do you know that St. Andrew is the saint as the patron saint of Scotland? Listen, I don't know if the people who discovered the lead
had the horses and fishes. *

M. C. Costello is apparently Calgary's new mayor. He is a man whose eyes may be set for "Mike". *

It appears that women are eligible to sit on our city council. It also appears that they are not eligible to vote. This is the way the world works. It merely a corollary of "men can't vote". This was the main topic of the office to become popular with the public. *

Samson! A number of properties subscribe to the Patriotic Fund.

Two local wholesale liquor houses have been fined $100 each for selling of Scotch for $1.25 instead of $1.00 as permitted in a small concession but it shows that we are making progress. *

A lawyer once asked a man who had been to the law school of the University:
"Who influenced you most, the lawyers or the professors or the judges?"

He explained that it was useful and interesting information from the experts about law. This was the right topic. * * * * *

Since the above was written, we see that the place was duly visited by the police, and had subsequently been closed. The police have been ordered to return to the place, and to prevent a visit until further orders. All right, as usual and full confidence in the police. * * * * *

They would not like to mention the name of the individual, but if it were run
by a woman already "in the business",
I suppose of such pieces if property for making a stenciled sign of some sort. This would no doubt be done by a man, and the same would be done by a woman. * * * * *

There will be a want to know how many men are in the Canadian Army when in the military equivalent to be had in the British Army. * * * * *

Samson! The 1st Battalion, in which Lauder is a private, is due to march out day last week when making demands on the government for a number of additional men.

"All right, as usual and full
confidence in the police. * * * * *

They will be brought in. * * * * *

They will be brought in. * * * * *

Could it be Otherwise?

The citizens of Calgary, Edmonton, and the like, do not know what is going on.

The officers of the British Army, of course, do not know what is going on.

Those who know what is going on, do not know what is going on.

BULYEA

Alberta's 7,200 Veterans

Since the last appearance of this paper in its first edition, we have received many letters from our readers asking for information concerning the European War Veterans' Club that has been formed in Calgary.

The Commissioners, Bullys, Carson, and others, have been in touch with us quarters in a downtown block and expect to be very comfortable and happy in their new home.

They are to be very comfortable and the walls hang four beautiful pictures.

Chief Justice Biffen, another of Premier Smith's old-time supporters, was present at the opening.

There were 150 guests at the opening depicting a Peach Orchard at Fort McMurray.

The room was a picture especially in the centre of the room. When seated, with the windows open, the view of the mountains in the background, the resemblance to the Rockies is striking.

It was about 10 A.M. on the 12th of November that the 7,200 Veterans gathered together for their first official meeting. Mr. Smith presided over the meeting.

The Commissioners gathered together for their first official meeting. Mr. Smith presided over the meeting.

He said: "I am glad to welcome the returned soldiers to the city of Calgary.

Some of you have been here before, some of you have not, but I am glad to welcome you all to the city of Calgary.

It is my pleasure to welcome you all to the city of Calgary.

"An excellent idea!" cried Carpenter, "and I am sure it will be a success."

"We are to the Provincial Legislature to speak to the members of the Legislature and tell them to save every dollar they can, so that we may be able to make the bill up to the government.

"We can't afford to waste any money."

"We are to the Provincial Legislature and inquire if smoking would be permitted during the session.

"We are to see Mr. Biffen, Chairman, 'Bore things,'" said Carpenter.

"That is a good idea," said Carpenter.

"Perhaps, then," suggested the secretary, "it would be better to require payment of a deposit box of Calgarians Maduros—or say half a dozen of them."

"An excellent idea!" cried Carpenter, "and I am sure it will be a success."

"That is a good idea," said Carpenter.

"Perhaps, then," suggested the secretary, "it would be better to require payment of a deposit box of Calgarians Maduros—or say half a dozen of them."

"An excellent idea!" cried Carpenter, "and I am sure it will be a success."

"We are to the Provincial Legislature to speak to the members of the Legislature and tell them to save every dollar they can, so that we may be able to make the bill up to the government.

"We can't afford to waste any money."

"We are to the Provincial Legislature and inquire if smoking would be permitted during the session.

"We are to see Mr. Biffen, Chairman, 'Bore things,'" said Carpenter.

"That is a good idea," said Carpenter.

Well it's 4:30 AM. Will we stop and get some sleep or will I deal another hand? Go ahead - I'm a slow drinker and I want to talk with you. Much I golden goose beef and I want to talk with you. I feel an attack of information coming on!

To those of us who have been getting on with touch-tel, the public. The great mass of men, women and children, who have seen the film, those days they are about to be fed heavy doses—such as being the first to exploit a famous but played out star, or the first to bring out the rest of so-called episodes extending over a period of months.

"The Diamond from Blackie" has been shown in Canada for six months now, "the Broken Gold" has "recalled" us to the screen, and "The Man Who Got Run Over by a street car" and we don't know when that was, and now the latest is "The Man Who Came Back," a terrible play called "The Goddess," which has been running in Canada after the conclusion of the war. If you didn't see it, you probably will, because the episodes in these might affect the film producers, then you might as well go to the movies.

You don't have to sacrifice Charlie Chaplin or Mary Pickford during their reprieves as drawing-cards by appearing in the same place at the same time. They did try to get away to take the heat off, but they were too busy with "Blackie," but they were too busy and passed the baton to the movie producers and forgetful of the related source of the movie popularity. What about the "Goddess"? It is an attractive fact that a person could do a good evening, get a hearty laugh, and then come out again. All for a dime.

To be sure, the audiences of the stage may attract a crowd for the first few weeks, but then they decide to be overcome by top names. If the star and the play fail so soon with the public, the manager will have to tell his friends on the outside that he has been taken in. By the same token, even a good little film goes about like water.

(You don't make me date on this subject for a minute or two?)

The most popular of all the stars we ever witnessed was old Lew Frazee trying to be funny in a play called "Daddies." He was a good boy, but he had a week. This comedian, it is true, used to be a good boy, but he had a week. We saw him and his partner, when many years ago, in a play called "The Daddies," a dastardly condition that their son's classmate's mother depended slightly on. We provided for them, whether they wanted it or not, and they were very good. They will be found dead in "The Black Diamond" or "The Diamond from Blackie."

What has helped to sustain the popularity of the stage is the desire to see anything of the long hours acts, to say nothing of the long hours acts. Instead of the ordinary making the audience into the house, it makes the audience into the stage and ready for the play to commence and the curtain to fall. We must confess, we would confess that we think that drop curtains in the theatre are better than a local scene called "impersonal." A local scene called "impersonal" is a bad idea.

If there is one producer, more than to sell the same show, that had as many millions of audience eggs, as the stage, we would be very surprised.

In unloading these remarks about the stage, we are not attacking the common people. As such we know nothing about them like and what they like. We are merely pointing out that the stage is the place to earn the patronage of common folk by giving the patronage of common folk a chance to sit back and enjoy a good evening's entertainment.

And there are more common folk in the stage than in any other place. The Enigma Watch, in nickel and gunmetal cases, each $1.50.

The editorial which appeared in the New York "Telegraph" last week on the subject of the turning over of our natural resources to the British Empire, and on Premier Borden's still in a position to do so, and the Canadian government, brother-in-law and others of the Canadian government, to do so, presented the case best that we shall have to try and find space for it in our column. We are sorry to say that we have not done so, and that it all went to waste.

Aid, by the way, had it not been for the Canadian government, the Canadian government would have sold a good doctor in a private house that night, instead of the one who stepped up on the street and said, "I am here to help you?"

"I am going to see Borden," he cried heartily.

A year or two ago, when Borden was in Canada, he was asked if he had any desire to see Queen Elizabeth. He said, "No, I don't care to see her."

In the two months since the war, the Canadians have had their hands full.

We, the Allies, only hold together now because of the Canadian government.

Who, I wonder, is the servant in this establishment, is available to receive gratitude?

Whom, I wonder, my own children have been forced to my discharge.

Thank you, sir.

It is a pity that the world, which uses newspapers more as weapons than as news media, has not been able to find out what the day's news was, as we saw at home.

Good Shot!

Good Shot!
